East Hill Cabinetry

Founded in 2007, East Hill Cabinetry has built its reputation by providing homeowners personal and unique renovation solutions with world class products and craftsmanship. It is this focus on the homeowners that has helped East Hill Cabinetry grow in a difficult economic environment, with the company completing over 100 projects in that short time span.

East Hill Cabinetry began by offering the finest of cabinetry for the home, along with a design process that is second to none. "Our focus was in listening to our clients, and tailoring a space to their lifestyles and what they envisioned for their home" says Anthony Maucieri, founder of East Hill. "While the cabinetry is beautiful, and the designs are outstanding, it was the actual process itself that helped the company thrive. We try and relieve the burden of renovation from the homeowner, so we made the cabinetry the easiest part of the project for them. It was the homeowners constantly begging us to do the complete renovation that made us start doing them in the first place".

Each supplier has been hand-picked and vetted personally by the founder, to make sure East Hill can provide the best in quality for their clients. The past two years has been spent in developing their own product line. They met with over 50 wood workers throughout the northeast to find exactly the right partnership. Their journey took them to the Hidden Hills of the Berkshires, where they met, and have subsequently partnered with, a family of Mennonite craftsmen who operate a small furniture shop. With The Hidden Hills Collection, this family crafts East Hill's custom designs, using 5/4" solid wood faces and doors, and furniture quality joinery. There are no standard doors or finishes; every piece of every kitchen is custom designed creating the most unique product available. The shop is small, and the quality is extraordinarily high, so only eight kitchens are year can be constructed. They are also installed by the craftsmen who make them. The result is the finest product available to Fairfield and Westchester County homeowners.

While the products are outstanding, the renovation process itself is a large part of the East Hill experience. They focus exclusively on their area of expertise, high end kitchen and bath renovations. They have been able to create a seamless renovation, a way to guide homeowners painlessly through the entire process of the renovation, from start to finish. Rather than focus only on the end result, their energy is spent on creating a positive experience and a process that includes and involves the clients, allowing them to create a space tailored to their specific tastes and needs. This focus on the preparation and the process, along with the quality of their craftsmen, ensures a beautiful end result. ■
